Our Community Grants programme

At Nationwide, we think a place to call home is one of the most important things you can have.

That's why our members and colleagues come together on our Community Boards: to choose which housing projects to help in their area. Every project supports one of our three social priorities: Helping people into a home, Preventing people from losing a home and Supporting people to thrive at home. By making little differences in local communities, they're helping tackle the housing crisis throughout the UK.

Our Community Grants programme in numbers

This year, we're celebrating:

supporting

94

local projects

awarding over

£4 million

helping

23,907

People

Since 2017, our Community Grants programme has:

supported

444

local projects

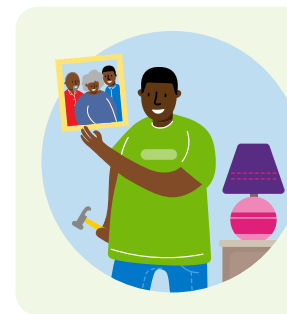

awarded

£17.7 million

and by 2023, this will be

£22 million

All local projects support one of our three social priorities:

Supporting

10,297

people to thrive
at home

Preventing

9,299

people from losing their home

Helping

4,311

people into a home

The projects
we're helping:

32 projects
support people
to thrive at home

29 projects
prevent people from losing their home

33 projects help
people into a home

This year, the majority of our local projects support people who are homeless, followed by children and young people and women who have experienced domestic abuse.

Our branches are at the heart of local communities

Our branches aren't just building amazing relationships with members - they're building them with charities too. Because every time we give a Community Grant to a charity, we match them with a local branch who give them ongoing support like volunteering or fundraising.

Who we're helping

Our Community Boards help all kinds of housing projects and charities. While some are the kind of thing you might expect – like hostels and places that provide food – others are more surprising.

Some provide training and qualifications, while others support refugees, people experiencing domestic abuse or LGBTQIA+ people who are facing life without somewhere to live. But all the projects have one focus in common: for everyone to have a place fit to call home. Every project that receives a Community Grant supports one of our three social priorities and helps all kinds of different people.

People who are homeless

People living in poverty

Children and young people

Ex-offenders

People in care or suffering serious illness

Men

Care leavers

Victims of crime,
violence and abuse

People with learning difficulties

Older people

Military veterans

People with multiple disabilities

Women experiencing
domestic abuse

Sex workers

LGBTQIA+

Families, parents and lone-parents

Refugee, asylum seekers, immigrants

Ex-rough sleepers

See how we're meeting our three social priorities:

1

Helping people into a home

2

Preventing people
from losing a home

3

Supporting people
to thrive at home

We couldn't have done it without you

“

A truly inspiring, moving day and so amazing to know you've helped changed lives.

Jennie, East Community Board member

It was such a wonderful experience being part of the Community Board. There were so many good causes and it's humbling to hear how the charities are working so hard to support the communities we live in.

Najma, West Community Board member

What a fantastic experience. I've come away today with a spring in my step knowing I've played a part in helping people turn their lives around.

In 2020-21, our South West Community Board members voted to award Age UK Gloucestershire £38,250 to help people into a home. The Homeshare project rethinks living arrangements for people across generations by matching older householders with young people. The benefit of intergenerational living helps those looking for economical and homely accommodation and creates an environment for companionship and support.

ageuk.org.uk/gloucestershire

Home Sharing has been life changing for all of us, it's given me the companionship that I craved. I was thrilled to have Sophie and her dog move in! We just clicked and Sophie is here every night so I fell much more relaxed. I no longer suffer with panic attacks because Sophie is here. She's everything I could ask for in a Homeshare.

I've had such an awful week with so much bad stuff thrown at us, especially regarding my health. This journey is hard enough to go through without worrying about money, which is what we do a lot. We're so grateful for the financial help we received from the Tom Bowdidge Youth Cancer Foundation. They've made my day today and given some positivity back after what felt like one of the worst weeks of my life.

The support from this project has changed my life. Having spent a large amount of time in prison, I was unsure what my options would be upon being released. I am now housed in secure accommodation and have been funded to complete qualifications to work on construction sites. Single Homelessness Project (SHP) have been really supportive and I'm now excited about my future.

I'm still adjusting to my new life. Last year I was homeless, living on the streets of Manchester and I had no job. As soon as I reached out for help, it was there. In a week I was off the streets and living in a hostel. My support worker Dave got behind me straight away. He helped me prepare to get back into work and to find a job. I was given money for suitable interview clothes and had my food and travel subsidised. I've now got a job and my own home.

Helping people to thrive at home

I was afraid that I could get hacked and I always sort of felt someone was looking over my shoulder. The Rights4Seniors Digital Skills project was enjoyable, and it was so good to talk to someone who knew what they were doing. I now feel so much more confident. I also feel more secure and will be more inclined to buy things online and have less anxiety about my bank account being at risk.
